

Mr Nyankono Marwa's Bio

Mr. Nyankomo Marwa is a Lecturer of Econometrics and Development Finance at the University of Stellenbosch Business School, South Africa and a visiting Biostatistician at Saskatchewan Population Health Research Unit in Canada. His Doctoral thesis in Development Finance is currently under examination process by the University of Stellenbosch Business. He completed Doctoral Course work in Economics, Econometrics and Public Policy from the University of Nebraska Lincoln USA and Johnson Shoyama Graduate School of Public Policy, Canada. In addition he holds Masters' degree in Agricultural Economics from University of Nebraska Lincoln (USA), Masters' degree in Applied Statistics and Biostatics from Hasselt University (Belgium) and BSc. Agricultural Economics and Agribusiness from Sokoine University of Agriculture (Tanzania).

Mr Marwa has extensive experience in research and teaching in Applied Statistics, Housing Finance, Agricultural Finance, and Applied Economics. His Research focuses on Empirical Modeling of Efficiency and Sustainability of Financial Institutions. He has been awarded several prestigious scholarships including: American Fulbright Scholarship, Teacher-Doctoral Scholar Fellowship, Nixen Fellowship, Stellenbosch University Merit Based Bursary, Belgian Technical Cooperation scholarship just to mention few.